A Day in the Life... Alan Chan – Library Assistant

I joined KD Library almost a year ago. As library assistant, I help users access resources and services and ensure the library space is as comfortable and productive as it can be. I start a typical day by logging on to various systems and applications, and test the self service machine to make sure that library members can check out books properly. I walk around the library to pick up and reshelv books, and if necessary, clean and tidy up spaces. Throughout the day, I offer library services as needed.

Did you know KD Library members can request a journal article or a book from a partner NHS library? Articles are normally delivered to our members within 24 hours. Books usually become available within a business week. I search other libraries' holdings to source the needed articles or books. Members receive scans or PDF files of requested articles. When books arrive, I ask members to pick them up or send them to their off-site workplaces across the island. Interlibrary loan is built on reciprocity. Therefore, I also fulfil requests from other libraries in the UK and Ireland to supply articles or books to them. As I am new to Britain and the Isle of Man, I always learn about new cities and towns when I send books across. Sharing resources makes it more cost effective for all NHS libraries to deliver excellent service to their users.

Perhaps you rarely request interlibrary loans because you can already get what you need from our book collection or electronic resources. With OpenAthens, you can access an array of databases, journals, and learning resources such as our recently added Anatomy.tv. I manage membership records almost everyday so only our members can benefit from the resources paid for by the library. I issue library cards and create OpenAthens accounts for new members. Occasionally, members need help because their memberships have expired or they have forgotten their passwords. I can renew their library and OpenAthens memberships and reset passwords. I encourage all eligible library members to get OpenAthens. You are missing out if you don't.

Whenever I can, I work at the counter to answer your questions. KD Library is also a space for you to work and enjoy. Our members use the Cooil Darree hub for online and offline meetings, the IT room to scan and print documents or complete eLearn Vannin modules, the wellbeing nook to lie down and browse your phone, the quiet room to prepare for major examinations or presentations, and the stationery and study space to get things done. Please feel free to ask me for anything that can give you a better library experience.

KD Library is open 24/7. I, along with the Library Team, work to make sure the library is in good shape – both physically and digitally – so it will always be ready when you come no matter what time it is.

June is pride month

It's a great time to learn more about LGBTQIA+ experiences and healthcare needs

In the spotlight...

Anatomy TV

We've got a brand new resource
(and we're really excited about it)

Anatomy TV is a resource for anyone in Manx Care, DHSC, and associated services who would like to use it. We think it has wide appeal and can be used in teaching, CPD, and with service users.

It is funded by the library budget, we wanted to provide an additional anatomy and physiology resource which also allows us to move into the growing field of simulation education. Groups we think will benefit include student nurses, medical students, students on placement, Foundation Doctors, clinical staff, and those who may use it as an aid to explain anatomy and physiology to patients.

Anatomy.tv is an online resource that provides over 6,500 detailed 3D models of human anatomy to explore. You can browse:

- 3D models
- 3D real time (build a bespoke anatomy model!)
 - Anatomy and physiology
- Functional anatomy (movement and exercise)
 - Dissections
 - Imaging
- Diseases and conditions
 - Physiology

Anatomy.TV can be accessed at tinyurl.com/KDAnatomyTV

What's your favourite position?

Explore something new with our adjustable desk and seating options

As well as the electronic adjustable desk which we highlighted in the last issue of the newsletter, we also purchased some adjustable and moveable desks to allow you to choose where and how you work.

You can wheel them around the library to suit your needs, provide extra work space, or help you read journals/books more easily while standing.

Most importantly, there's space to put your brew!

Fancy some floor time instead?

Find our seating cushions in the wellbeing area at the back of the library!

Brand New Educational Games

Game-based learning is the perfect way to learn, raise awareness, and change behaviour. The games we have in stock are fun, but have a serious purpose and clear learning outcomes.

Want to borrow some? Check out the game shelf between the quiet room and research corner boards in KD Library.

Book Requests

【英國皇家屬地】曼島考察之旅 x EP2 住屋交通及醫療篇 | Exploring the Isle of Man: Housing, Transportation, Medical Care

LOCATE
ISLE OF MAN

Hong Kong and London-based immigration lawyer

Janine Miu visited the Isle of Man at the invitation of Department for Enterprise's Locate.im team. Janine will help promote the Isle of Man to investors, business people, and global talents. She interviewed Manx Care CEO Teresa Cope and Alan. Their interviews are live on Youtube.

Keyll Darree Library run a journal club which is open to all library staff on the Isle of Man. At the last meeting we looked at an article titled: Making and Using AI in the Library (Haffenden et al. 2023).

There are staff from public, academic, and archive libraries, but all of us struggled to think of applicable uses for our specific services. Although it would be great to have searchable images for our users!

Overall, the current co-pilot (having someone check everything to be safe) method of using AI seems like it would not be a great help for us – not to mention the cost of use (alongside the ethical and environmental risks too!).

We all think we'll be sticking to people power for now!

We took part in the Major Incident Plan in April. It was interesting to learn more about what our role would be in case of an emergency (lots of organisation of information, thankfully we're good at that!)

Based on lessons learned from the day we're going to be having a training session with the police on how to input details into their emergency system.

Staff Recommendations

We don't stock these titles, but we enjoyed reading them! You may be able to find them at your local public library.

Stacey — This is a book I have read so many times that my original copy is falling apart. I have two copies spare specifically to lend out.

Alanna and her twin brother have reached a point in their lives when it's time to go and train for their future - her brother is to go to the castle and become a knight, and she is to go to a convent and learn to be a lady. It's what generations have done before, but Alanna (a certified tom boy) doesn't want to be a lady, and her brother (an aspiring magic user) doesn't want to be a knight... If only there was a solution.

After a quick switcheroo, Alana finds that knight training may be tough, but observing court manners and keeping her temper in check is harder.

Tamora Pierce is a fantastic writer and I love this as much now as I did when I first read it when I was 9!

Mand - Detective Inspector Avison Fluke is a man on the edge. He has committed a crime to get back to work, concealed a debilitating illness and is about to be made homeless. Just as he thinks things can't get any worse, the body of a young woman is found buried on a Cumbrian building site.

Shot once in the back of the head, it is a cold, calculated execution. When the post-mortem reveals she has gone to significant expense in disguising her appearance, Fluke knows this is no ordinary murder.

With the help of a psychotic ex-Para, a gangland leader and a woman more interested in maggots than people, Fluke must find out who she was and why she was murdered before he can even think about finding her killer...

Alan — KD Library stocks this autobiography, which was written by Katalin Kariko, a Hungarian-born American biochemist before she was awarded, together with Drew Weissman, the Nobel Prize for Medicine in 2023. We all owe her a big thank you for getting our lives back, figuratively and in some instances literally, as her work on messenger RNA (mRNA) is instrumental to vaccines and therapeutics to fight the pandemic. After arriving in the United States from communist Hungary, she lost a job offer due to immigration paperwork issues and had to fight her deportation. Although she eventually made it to some of the top research universities in the United States, she was often treated horribly. Her research on mRNA was risky and difficult. As she did not bring in enough research funds, she was demoted and evicted from her office and lab space. Anyone else could have given up. Holding no grudges, Kariko had persisted against all odds, and changed the world for the better.

Pickled chili garlic sauce

(duo jiao,)

From Red House Spice

Ingredients

- 450 g fresh red chili peppers
- 120 g garlic
- 30 g ginger - optional
- 1½ tablespoon salt
- ½ tablespoon sugar
- 1 lime/lemon - or 1 tablespoon white rice wine

Prepare

- Wash the chili peppers under running water thoroughly. Drain then pad dry with a clean tea towel or kitchen paper. Lay them on a tray. Leave to air dry completely.
- Remove the green stems. Cut the peppers into chunks (Wear gloves to avoid burning). If you wish to reduce the spiciness, remove the seeds before cutting.
- Peel the garlic and ginger. Crush to loosen the texture a little.

Blend

- Add garlic and ginger to a food processor. Blend them on high speed into a paste-like consistency.
- Put in the chopped pepper (you might need to add it in two batches depending on the size of your food processor). Blend for 3 seconds then pause. Stir with a spatula then blend for another 3 seconds. Repeat the process until the pepper is evenly chopped into small pieces but not to a fine paste consistency.

Season

- Pour everything into a large bowl. Add salt, sugar and the juice of the lime/lemon. Mix with a spatula until well combined.
- Cover the bowl and leave to rest on the counter for 48 hours.

Store

- Transfer the chili garlic sauce into clean, oil-free, air-tight jars/containers. Store in the fridge for up to 3 months or in the freezer for 9 months.

Use

- Use it a week later for a richer flavour. Always use a clean, oil-free spoon to scoop out the sauce. Put the jar/container back into the fridge after each use.
